REMODELING: SHIP SHAPE LAKE HOME

"We are absolutely thrilled with our newly remodeled lake home! DiGiacomo Homes embraced the challenges of keeping within the original footprint, while dealing with the additional complexities of relocating the staircase and incorporating a geothermal heating system. They created a warm welcoming aesthetic while using beautiful sophisticated materials. We are experienced remodelers who have worked with other accomplished design professionals. Gigi and Rocky not only met, but exceeded our expectations of the service and professionalism a design/build firm should offer their clients." - Homeowner

DiGiacomo Homes was recently invited to remake an 1,800 square-foot lake home in northern Minnesota for a family of four. The homes traditional cedar exterior (and footprint) was to remain unchanged. Inside, however, our clients desired a fresh clean transitional palette infused with gray and white.

In an effort to marry the homes new desired interior with its existing exterior, we paired traditional cabin aesthetics such as doug fir beams, oil-rubbed bronze hardware and slate flooring with clean modern ship lap siding, quartzite counters, and warm white trim. Custom cabinetry and yacht-building principles inspired the design of playful, high-function storage such as the his/hers wardrobes (above to left and right of bed) and game drawers below the stairs (below right).
